

This week you are going to a party
where you know you will meet the boy of your dreams. You can't dance but there will be others who can.

Your next door neighbour drives you crazy with his all-night parties.

Your aunt saw you kissing your girl-/boy/ friend in the park and she wants to tell this to your mother, who thinks you are too young for
that sort of thing

Someone plays silly jokes and phones you up in the middle of the night.

Someone steals the milk that is left at your door every morning.

Your daughter has been very
rude to you lately.

You can't sleep at night but you don't want to go to a doctor with such a silly problem.

You borrowed a large sum of money
to buy a car and now you can't give it back.

You forgot to ring your mother on her birthday and she feels offended.

Your dog has ruined your boy-friend's favourite carpet.

Your dog has had ten puppies and you don't know what to do with them.

You have lost a book from the library and it is out of print.

You failed the university entrance exam.

Your parents don't approve of your boy-/girl/ friend.

Your mother reads the letters you get.

Your neighbours drive you crazy with loud music.